

Conservation District has Display at the Beaver Fair

From September 21 through 26, 2015, the Snyder County Conservation District (SCCD) had a display at the Beaver Community Fair at Beaver Springs, PA. Displays and materials explaining basic agricultural compliance and SCCD activities and events were present. Other educational items from SCCD and cooperating agencies were available for the public to pick up and take home.

This year, a "Conservation District technician" wearing an orange SCCD hat was stationed all day and night with the display while standing inside a blue plastic rain barrel. (See picture above.) The "technician" wore a sign around his neck that said, "Compliance is a big 'dill.' Most of the time I'm in a pickle." An easel held a poster with the words, "So my co-workers put me in a barrel to let you know we can help you with... Ag. Compliance, Excavation Regs., Watershed Protection, Conservation Education."
